

Brothers and sisters,

Today, we gather in a spirit of love and unity to embrace a beloved soul into our family. We open our hearts to this incredible journey of life and faith, accepting this precious individual with open arms.

As we stand together, let us remember that each of us is a divine creation, uniquely crafted with purpose and love. Today, we affirm our commitment to nurture, guide, and support this new member of our family, providing a foundation of compassion and understanding.

With grateful hearts, we give thanks for the blessing of this union, for the chance to walk alongside one another, growing in wisdom and strength.

May we all continue to be a source of light and encouragement, as we embody the boundless love that surrounds us.

Welcome with joy and peace, knowing you are surrounded by a family who cherishes and uplifts you. Amen.
