

Ladies and gentlemen, fellow debaters, and esteemed judges,
Today, as we stand here celebrating this victory, I want to acknowledge that this achievement is not the result of one person's effort, but the outcome of remarkable teamwork. Each member of our team has played a crucial role in reaching this moment.
Together, we researched, brainstormed, and challenged each other, always pushing for greater understanding and stronger arguments. Our success is a testament to the collaboration, trust, and support we have built.
Thank you to our opponents for stimulating debate and to our mentors and supporters who have guided us. This victory is a shared triumph, and it belongs to all of us who believed in the power of working together.
Thank you.