

Ladies and gentlemen,

I stand before you deeply honored by this recognition, yet I must humbly decline this award. This moment and this accomplishment are not mine alone. It is a testament to the incredible work and dedication of my peers, each bringing unique talent and relentless commitment to the table.

Every success we achieve is a collective effort, and it feels only right to share this acknowledgment with those who inspire and support me daily. I am fortunate to work alongside such exceptional individuals whose contributions make all the difference.

Thank you for recognizing our collective efforts. I am privileged to be part of such a remarkable team.

Thank you.
