

Certainly! Here's a simple example:

---

Hello everyone,

I hope you're well. I wanted to take a moment to express my gratitude for the opportunity to audition for this incredible project. Being considered was truly an honor, and I am thankful for the chance to show you what I can do.

While I understand that I may not have been the right fit for this particular role, I have gained valuable experience from this process and have enjoyed every minute. Your feedback and kindness have been tremendously encouraging, and I look forward to applying what I've learned in future endeavors.

Thank you once again for the opportunity and your time. I am genuinely grateful and wish the entire team much success with the production.

Warm regards,

[Your Name]