

Ladies and gentlemen, esteemed colleagues,

I rise to express my firm objection to the proposed amendment. While I understand the intentions behind it, I am concerned about the unintended consequences it may bring. This amendment risks undermining the progress we have collectively achieved and could introduce complexities that may hinder our objectives.

Let us consider the long-term implications and the precedent it might set. I urge us to reevaluate and seek alternatives that align with our shared goals without compromising the integrity of our efforts.

I am confident in our ability to collaboratively find a more balanced solution. Thank you.
