

Good afternoon, everyone.

I stand before you today to express my concerns about the recent decision made by the student council regarding changes to our extracurricular activities. It's clear that this decision affects many of us, and I feel it's important to voice some of the collective concerns from our student community.

Firstly, extracurricular activities are a vital part of our school experience, offering us opportunities to explore our interests and develop new skills. By limiting or altering these activities, we risk missing out on these important aspects of our education.

Secondly, I believe that such significant decisions should involve more input from the student body. After all, these activities are for us, and our voices should count in shaping them. I urge the student council to consider more inclusive dialogues, perhaps through surveys or town hall meetings, to gather diverse opinions before finalizing such decisions.

Lastly, we should work together to find viable solutions that cater to the majority without compromising the variety and richness of our extracurricular offerings. Whether it's by reshuffling schedules or seeking additional resources, I am confident that we can find a way to sustain these essential programs.

Let us unite and ensure our extracurriculars continue to thrive for the benefit of all.

Thank you for listening.
