

Ladies and gentlemen,

Today, we gather to celebrate a beautiful journey that is about to begin. The arrival of a new life is a reminder of the wonders and mysteries the world holds.

To the soon-to-be parents, as you embark on this incredible path, may you find joy in every giggle and comfort in every cuddle. Remember, it's the simple moments that often bring the greatest wisdom: a soothing lullaby at night, a gentle touch when words fall short.

To our precious baby, know that you are being welcomed with love, encouragement, and the hope that you may grow to see the beauty in the world around you.

Let us embrace this occasion with hearts full of love and support for this new life and for each other. Cheers to new beginnings and the adventures that come with them.

Thank you.
