

Ladies and gentlemen,

Thank you all for coming to celebrate this little bundle of joy on the way! Honestly, I'm just relieved to be here because the last baby shower I attended, I showed up with a gift for the wrong baby. Lesson learned: double-check your invites!

Today, we're here to shower [Parent's Names] with love, laughter, and enough diapers to build a small fortress. Trust me, they're going to need it--especially when they discover that babies are expert escape artists by nature!

Now, I have to say, one of my favorite things about babies is their ability to make a bigger mess with food than a group of college students during finals week. And if you think that's bad, wait until [Baby's Name] starts getting really creative with finger paints.

But in all seriousness, we're all incredibly excited for you both.

Parenthood is a wild ride full of sleepless nights, but the incredible joy and love [Baby's Name] will bring are worth every single yawn.

So, let's raise our baby bottles--yes, the ones filled with juice or, you know, "grown-up juice"--to the soon-to-be parents: may your coffee be strong and your baby be a world-class napper!

Cheers!