

Ladies and gentlemen,

Thank you all for being here today to celebrate this beautiful journey into motherhood. As I prepare to welcome my little one into the world, I am overwhelmed with gratitude for the love and support from each of you. To my family and friends, thank you for standing by me, for all the advice, and for the countless laughs during this exciting time. Your encouragement means the world to me.

I'm filled with anticipation and joy as I think about the moments ahead, and I feel so blessed knowing this baby will grow up surrounded by such wonderful people.

Thank you for sharing this special day with me. Your presence means everything.

With all my love,
