

Ladies and gentlemen, gather near,
For today we celebrate with joy and cheer.
Beneath this sky so bright and clear,
A little miracle is drawing near.
In this cocoon of love, anticipation grows,
Like a budding flower, ready to pose.
Soft whispers of lullabies weave through the air,
As we prepare the world with tender care.
Tiny socks and pastel hues,
Dreams of adventures in little shoes.
Stories of cuddles beneath the stars,
Our hearts wrapped around this universe of ours.
May laughter and love surround this space,
As we welcome the newest little face.
This gathering of hearts, warm and sincere,
Celebrates the joy that's almost here.
Raise your glasses for dreams anew,
For baby and parents, a future bright and true.
To love and happiness, we toast and sing,
In anticipation of all the joy this life will bring.
Here's to the journey, here's to the dreams,
Here's to a life that's now more than it seems.
To the soon-to-come little one, light as a feather,
Welcome, darling, to love's sweet tether.