

Ladies and gentlemen, family, and friends,
We gather here today to welcome this little bundle of joy into our world--a world that undoubtedly revolves around him/her already (and we're all okay with it, because, who can resist those chubby cheeks?).
Today, we celebrate the christening of Baby [Name], this tiny human with a well-developed talent for charming strangers and stealing hearts. Trust me, he/she had me wondering if I could pull off a tutu or a tiny bowtie. Parents, [Names], you have brought into the world a future night-owl stand-up comedian, given the number of hours this baby has kept you awake with those marathon feeding sessions and late-night diaper changes. Keep your spirits up; sleep is overrated anyway, right?
To the godparents, [Names], this is your official warm welcome into the land of diaper duty, babysitting adventures, and endless supply of candy to keep your godchild on a sugary high. Remember, you are now the cool backup parents, so no pressure!
And little [Name], we are so thrilled to have you join our quirky family. We promise to be there as you grow, to cheer you on, to laugh at your jokes--even the knock-knock ones--and to always be the support you need, especially when it comes to dodging broccoli spears at family dinners. So here's to laughter, love, and more adorable memories than you can fill into a photo album. Welcome to the world, little one. We're glad you're here to make it a much livelier place.
Cheers!