

Ladies and gentlemen,

Thank you all for gathering here today to celebrate the christening of our little bundle of joy. You know, babies are like tiny dictators--they scream, they cry, and somehow they still expect you to love and adore them unconditionally. It's a good thing they're cute!

Today, as we sprinkle some holy water, we also sprinkle lots of love, hopes, and maybe a little bit of future embarrassment for when our little one grows up and sees the pictures of those adorable baby outfits.

We are so grateful to our family and friends for their support, and to the godparents--who apparently agreed to babysit for free! Remember, taking on this role means not just guiding them spiritually, but occasionally bringing chocolates for the parents.

So here's to a life filled with joy, laughter, and the occasional diaper explosion. Thank you all for being a part of this beautiful day!

Cheers!