

Ladies and gentlemen, gathered here in grace,
Today we celebrate this precious little face.
With tiny hands and eyes so bright,
A new soul is welcomed into light.
From generations past, our family we've drawn,
Traditions cherished like the morning dawn.
Just as your forebears watched the stars above,
We'll guide you ever with our boundless love.
Your great-grandfather once whispered tales of old,
Of courage, of warmth, of hearts made of gold.
Your grandmother sang lullabies, soft and sweet,
Legacies of love at your tiny feet.
With water's gentle touch and a prayer's embrace,
We christen you today with boundless grace.
Through life's rivers you shall gently sail,
With love as your compass and truth as your trail.
May laughter and joy follow where you tread,
May wisdom and kindness guide your head.
In this circle of love, you will always belong,
An unbroken chain, ever steadfast, ever strong.
So, here's to your journey, just begun today,
With blessings and traditions lighting your way.
In this family tapestry, you are a treasured part,
Woven forever into each heart.
Welcome, dear child, to a life full of dreams,
Where love's gentle river perpetually streams.
