

Good morning, everyone.

I stand before you today with a heart full of humility and gratitude. I would like to sincerely apologize for my recent actions that disrupted our school community. I realize that my behavior was not in line with the standards we uphold here, and for that, I am truly sorry.

I am grateful for the opportunity to learn from my mistakes and for the support and understanding from my teachers and peers. Moving forward, I am committed to making better choices and contributing positively to our school environment.

Thank you for your patience and kindness during this time. I hope to earn back your trust and respect through my actions in the future.

Thank you.
