

Ladies and gentlemen,

Thank you for gathering here today. I wish circumstances were different, but I stand before you to address a mistake I have made. I want to take full responsibility for my actions and sincerely apologize to my partner, family, and all those affected.

I acknowledge that I have been unfaithful. My choices have caused pain and disappointment, and I am truly sorry for the hurt I have caused. There are no excuses for my behavior. I have broken the trust of someone who trusted and loved me.

Moving forward, I am committed to being open and honest, and to working on rebuilding the trust I have shattered. I know that this is a long journey, but I am ready to put in the effort to make amends.

To my partner, I want to say how deeply sorry I am and how committed I am to repairing the damage. I hope to have the opportunity to demonstrate through actions, not just words, that I can be the person you deserve.

Thank you for listening.