

Good evening, everyone.

I want to take a moment to address a misunderstanding that occurred during my recent media appearance. I realize that my words may have caused confusion and unintended offense, and for that, I am truly sorry. I take full responsibility for my statements and the impact they had. It was never my intention to misrepresent the facts or cause any misunderstanding. I am committed to learning from this experience and will ensure that I communicate more clearly in the future. Thank you for your understanding and patience as I work to make this right.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]
