

Ladies and Gentlemen, Pudding and Pie,

Welcome to the most epic evening of your entire week--our vastly anticipated Welcome Dinner! If you're wondering whether you're in the right place, just look to your left and right. If the folks beside you look equally as perplexed but excited, then congratulations, you've landed in the heart of fun town!

Tonight, we're here to celebrate the wonder of culinary delights and the beauty of gaining new friends, all while trying not to trip over our own enthusiasm! Please feel free to loosen your ties, untuck those shirts, and let your inner goofball shine.

For those of you hoping for a glimpse of elegance and sophistication--well, look no further than your soup spoon reflecting your best silly face! So grab your forks, dish out those jokes, and let's make tonight as unforgettable as a penguin on roller skates!

Remember, the only rule tonight? Having fun is mandatory, and serious faces will be swapped with goofy grins at the door!

Let's raise our glasses to good food, great company, and an evening full of laughter. Here's to a night of glorious giggles and feasting! Bon appetit and let the mischievous munching begin!
