

Ladies and Gentlemen,

Welcome to the wonderful world of [Company Name]! We're thrilled to have you join our quirky family. First things first: if you find any hidden treasure or secret passages within the office, please report to HR--there's a reward, but mostly just bragging rights.

As you settle in, you'll undoubtedly meet our coffee machine, the real hero of our office. Don't let its stubbornness fool you; it warms up to you after the third desperate button mashing.

Remember, here at [Company Name], we don't just work hard; we excel in the art of pretending to understand the printer. It's a rite of passage really, one day it will jam, and on that day, you'll know you've truly arrived.

In all seriousness, we're ecstatic to have you with us. You bring unique talents and almost certainly a fresher playlist for the office background music. We're excited for the collaboration ahead and can't wait to see what we can achieve together. So, buckle up, and enjoy the ride!

Cheers to new beginnings, zero typo email blitzes, and stealing the last slice of pizza while maintaining eye contact. Welcome to the team!