

Ladies and gentlemen,

Thank you for joining us tonight. Your presence here shows the deep commitment we all share to making a change. We gather today not just as individuals, but as a community united by the belief in a better tomorrow.

For many, this vision is still out of reach. There are families around us striving for hope, for a simple chance to dream again. Together, we can offer help -- a guiding light in their darkest hours.

Tonight, I humbly ask each of you to consider the difference we can make. Every contribution, big or small, propels us closer to creating a world that reflects our shared values of compassion and support.

Let us stand together, extending our hands to lift those who cannot stand alone. Your generosity today plants the seeds for hope and renewal. Thank you for being the change. Thank you for your heart.

Let's build that tomorrow, starting tonight.