

Ladies and gentlemen,

As we navigate this period of change, I want each of you to know how vital you are to our journey forward. Restructuring can be daunting, but it's also an opportunity for growth and innovation.

You are the backbone of this organization, and your skills, ideas, and dedication are what empower us to adapt and succeed. I encourage each of you to embrace this transition as a chance to expand your talents and explore new pathways.

Together, we can turn challenges into successes, building a future that benefits us all. Your potential is limitless, and with your continued commitment, we will reach new heights. Thank you for your hard work and resilience.

Let's forge ahead with confidence and unity. You are truly our greatest asset.

Thank you.
