

Ladies and gentlemen, esteemed guests, and honorable veterans,
Today, we gather in profound gratitude and respect to honor those who have served, those who have sacrificed, and those who continue to inspire us with their unwavering courage. Our veterans are the embodiment of valor, enduring in their commitment to protecting the liberties we hold dear.

To each veteran here today, we offer not just our thanks, but our deepest admiration. Your bravery in the face of adversity, your willingness to stand on the front lines, and your dedication to the ideals of freedom and justice are nothing short of heroic.

In moments of great challenge, you did not falter. You faced the trials head-on, with resilience and grit, ensuring the preservation of peace and the endurance of hope. Your actions have taught us lessons in perseverance and have strengthened the very fabric of our nation.

As we pay tribute to your sacrifice, let us remember that the fight for freedom does not end when you return home. We, as a nation, are committed to standing by you, providing the support and appreciation you so rightly deserve.

Thank you, veterans, for your service, your sacrifice, and your enduring valor. You are our heroes, and we are forever in your debt.

With heartfelt gratitude, we salute you.

Thank you.
