

Ladies and Gentlemen,

Thank you all for gathering here today to celebrate the extraordinary life of our beloved grandmother, Mary.

Grandma may no longer be with us physically, but her spirit lives on in the countless memories we've shared. Her warm smile, infectious laughter, and boundless love touched each of us in profoundly special ways.

I remember the smell of fresh cookies filling her kitchen--a place where stories were told, lessons were learned, and laughter never ceased.

Whether she was teaching us how to sew, sharing tales from her youth, or simply holding our hands through life's ups and downs, Grandma Mary embodied grace and kindness.

Her life was a lesson in resilience and joy. She taught us that no matter how tough things got, there was always a reason to smile, a lesson to learn, and a dance to be had. Just like her cherished garden, she tended to her family with patience and care, helping each of us to grow and flourish.

Grandma Mary believed that life was meant to be celebrated, and today, we do just that. As we gather here, let's remember her not with tears of sorrow, but with hearts full of gratitude for the beautiful moments we were fortunate to share.

Thank you, Grandma, for your wisdom and love. Your legacy will live on in all of us, and we promise to carry forward the joy and strength you so effortlessly shared.

Let us raise a glass to Grandma Mary--a remarkable woman whose life was a blessing to us all.

Thank you.
