

Ladies and Gentlemen,

Wow! What an honor it is to stand up here. First off, I want to thank the organizers for not including an obstacle course en route to this stage; that's a true award in itself, really.

Receiving this award is truly special. And I promise I only bribed the judges with coffee and donuts. Just kidding! I wasn't allowed to give them donuts.

They say success is 1% inspiration and 99% perspiration. I think in my case, it's more like 1% talent and 99% not letting my team take vacations. Seriously, I have the best team; they deserve this award more than I do.

I'd also like to thank my family for supporting me, even when I started working from home and the Wi-Fi mysteriously slowed down whenever I entered the room.

Thank you again for this recognition. I promise to keep working hard and keeping donuts off the bribery menu!

Thank you! Have a great evening!
