

Ladies and gentlemen,

Today, we gather to celebrate a truly special woman--my mother. On her birthday, I would like to express my deepest gratitude for all the sacrifices she has made for our family.

Mom, you have always put us first, often giving up your own needs and desires to ensure we had everything we needed. Your strength and resilience have been the foundation of our family, and your love has been a constant source of comfort and warmth.

Thank you for every late-night phone call, for every homemade meal prepared with love, and for every word of encouragement that lifted us up when we needed it most. Your selflessness inspires us daily, and we are forever grateful for everything you do.

Happy birthday, Mom. We love you more than words can express.

Thank you.
