

Ladies and gentlemen,

As I stand before you today, I find myself overwhelmed with a mix of emotions that are hard to put into words. It's difficult to believe that after decades on the force, retirement day has finally arrived.

When I first put on this badge, I was just a young recruit with big dreams and a determination to serve. The years have flown by, with each day bringing new challenges and unforgettable moments. I've had the privilege of working alongside the finest men and women, who have become more than colleagues--they have become family.

We've shared laughter and tears, victories and losses, and through it all, I've been grateful for your support and camaraderie. Together, we have faced difficult times, but it's those very moments that have bonded us and made us stronger.

I am eternally thankful for the lessons I've learned, the friendships I've forged, and the community I've had the honor to serve. It's been a journey filled with memories that I will cherish forever.

As I step into this new chapter, I do so with gratitude in my heart. I will miss the everyday routines, the shared stories, and the sense of purpose that this career provided. But I am excited to see what the future holds, and I know that the skills and values I have gained here will guide me in whatever comes next.

Thank you all for the incredible journey. I am proud to have been a police officer, and even prouder to have served with each one of you. Let's continue to look out for one another and uphold the values we hold dear.

Thank you, and may you all stay safe and well.

With heartfelt gratitude,
