

Ladies and gentlemen,

As I stand before you today, my heart is overflowing with gratitude and a little nostalgia. After many years of hard work, dedication, and countless memories, the time has come for me to bid farewell and embark on a new chapter.

Reflecting on my journey, I am filled with pride over the numerous achievements we have accomplished together. We've built not just a team, but a family that supported each other through thick and thin. From overcoming challenges to celebrating successes, each moment has been a testament to our determination and unity.

I am deeply grateful for the friendships I've made and the lessons I've learned from all of you. These will remain with me forever, guiding and inspiring me as I start this new chapter of my life.

Thank you for being such a significant part of my career. I will treasure these memories always. Here's to future adventures, for all of us.

Thank you.
