

Ladies and gentlemen, gather near,
As we celebrate love so pure and dear.
In this room filled with laughter and cheer,
Love and joy are the themes we revere.
Tonight, the stars above align,
Reflecting the glow of hearts divine.
We toast to the couple, radiant and bright,
Whose love is a beacon in the night.
To the bride, a vision so fair,
With grace like the breeze and flowers in her hair.
The groom, her equal, steadfast and true,
Together they embark on a journey anew.
May their days be touched with sunlit grace,
And time be gentle in its embrace.
Here's to a love that endlessly grows,
In the heart's secret garden where happiness flows.
Raise your glasses, let laughter unfurl,
To the couple at the start of their beautiful world.
With love and joy, we send them forth,
For theirs is a tale of infinite worth.
Cheers to a love enduring and grand,
As they walk together, hand in hand.