Certainly, here's a simple template for a church speech with a community-connection focus:

Opening:

"Good [morning/afternoon/evening], everyone. It is truly a blessing to gather here today as one community under the grace of our Lord. I want to extend a warm welcome to each of you, especially those visiting us for the first time. Your presence enriches us all."

Acknowledgments:

"Before we begin, I'd like to take a moment to acknowledge the hardworking members of our congregation who make our gatherings possible. Thank you to our volunteers, the music team, the youth leaders, and everyone who contributes to the life of our church."

Message of Community:

"Our theme today is centered around community and connection. In a world that sometimes feels fragmented, our church provides a place where we can build meaningful relationships and support each other in faith. Remember, we are stronger together."

Scripture Reference:

"As it says in Hebrews 10:24-25, 'And let us consider how we may spur one another on toward love and good deeds, not giving up meeting together, as some are in the habit of doing, but encouraging one another--and all the more as you see the Day approaching.'"

Call to Action:

"I encourage each of you to take the next step in strengthening our community bonds. Whether that's joining a small group, participating in service projects, or simply reaching out to someone new, your involvement is invaluable."

Closing:

"Thank you for being here today, for your openness, your warmth, and your desire to grow together in love and faith. Let us continue to seek God's guidance as we build a community that reflects His love."

Prayer:

"Let us bow our heads in prayer. Heavenly Father, thank you for this opportunity to come together as a family. Guide us in nurturing a community built on compassion, understanding, and faith. Amen."

Feel free to adjust the template to suit your church's needs and your personal speaking style.
