

Ladies and gentlemen,

Today marks a significant moment and I stand before you with heartfelt gratitude. This inauguration is not just a ceremony, but a celebration of our shared journey.

First, I want to express my profound appreciation for each one of you. Your support, dedication, and belief in our vision have made today possible. To our partners, colleagues, and community members, your unwavering commitment has been our guiding light.

To our family and friends, your encouragement and love are the foundation upon which we build. Thank you for being our steadfast pillars.

As we embark on this new chapter, let us continue to embrace the opportunities ahead. Together, we will reach new heights and create a future filled with promise and possibility.

With deep gratitude, thank you all for being here and for your continued support.

Thank you.
