

Good morning, everyone!

I am so grateful to see each of you here today. As we gather this beautiful Sunday morning, let us take a moment to appreciate the strength and courage that resides within each of us. Life brings us challenges, but together, with faith and determination, we can overcome any obstacle. Remember the words of Isaiah 41:10: "Fear not, for I am with you; be not dismayed, for I am your God; I will strengthen you, I will help you, I will uphold you with my righteous right hand."

This verse reminds us that we are never alone. Our strength is not just our own. It is fortified by a divine presence, a source of unwavering support and love. When you feel weary or burdened, know that you can draw from this strength. It empowers us to rise above difficulties and emerge stronger than before.

So, as we continue with the service today, I encourage you to open your hearts. Let go of fear and doubt. Allow yourselves to be filled with hope and assurance. Embrace the journey with trust in the strength you have been given.

May you leave today feeling renewed and ready to face the week ahead with confidence and peace.

God bless you all.
