

Good morning, esteemed faculty, staff, and beloved students,
We gather here today in a sacred moment, united in the spirit of reflection and humble worship. As we sit in the stillness of our chapel, let us open our hearts to the gentle whispers of faith and the guiding light of purpose.

Today, let us contemplate the beauty and strength found in unity. The scriptures remind us that "a cord of three strands is not easily broken." In this sacred place, we are those strands--stronger together, lifting each other in times of joy and challenge.

May this service be a moment of peace and clarity. Let us find strength in our shared values, compassion in our actions, and hope in the days ahead. As we sing, pray, and listen, may we be inspired to carry the warmth of this gathering into our daily lives.

Let us offer our worship with sincerity and leave this chapel renewed in spirit and purpose. Thank you. May grace and peace be with us all. Amen.
