

Ladies and gentlemen, fellow students,

Today, we stand together, united in our demand for change. We are gathered here not just as individuals, but as a collective voice that will no longer be ignored. We are here to demand the quality education we deserve!

For too long, our concerns have been dismissed. We face overcrowded classrooms, outdated resources, and insufficient support. We are here to say enough is enough. Our education is not just a privilege, it is a right, and it is time for this right to be fully respected and properly funded.

We call upon our school administration, our local officials, and everyone in power to hear us loud and clear: We will not back down, we will not be silenced, and we will not stop until real action is taken.

We demand smaller class sizes for more personalized attention. We demand updated textbooks and access to modern technology that prepares us for the future. We demand a more inclusive and supportive environment for every student, regardless of their background.

Our message today is simple: Change must happen, and it must happen now. The future of education begins with us, and we will not rest until our voices spark the change we so urgently need.

Thank you.
