

Ladies and gentlemen, fellow advocates for our voiceless companions, We gather here today driven by a shared purpose--an unwavering commitment to the rights and freedom of all animals. Together, we stand as a powerful force, determined to bring an end to the injustices faced by animals across the world.

Every day, countless animals suffer in silence in factory farms, in laboratories, and in entertainment industries. They endure lives filled with pain and fear, deprived of freedom, compassion, and respect.
But today, we are their voice. We are here to declare that their lives matter. Every being, no matter how small, has the right to live free from harm and exploitation. It is time to reshape a world that respects and cherishes the dignity of all creatures.

Our message is clear: end the cruelty, end the suffering. Together, let's push for stricter animal welfare laws, demand cruelty-free alternatives, and hold those accountable who profit from their suffering.

As we march forward today, let us carry with us the power of empathy and the passion for change. Let us inspire others to open their eyes and hearts.

Because when we protect animals, we elevate humanity. Together, we can and we will make a difference.

Thank you.
