

Ladies and gentlemen, fellow students,

Today, we stand together, united and strong, for a cause that demands our voices, our courage, and our actions. We walk out not just as students but as architects of the future--one that respects, honors, and values every individual, regardless of where they come from.

Immigration reform is not just a political issue; it is a human issue. It is about fairness, justice, and opportunity. We demand a system that recognizes the contributions of immigrants, respects their rights, and offers them a path to live without fear and uncertainty.

We are here to send a clear message: the time for change is now. We refuse to accept outdated policies that break families apart and fuel division. We reject the notion that we must choose between our values and our security.

Today, as we walk out, we walk forward--towards a future where empathy guides policy, where diversity is celebrated, and where every person can pursue their dreams freely.

Let our voices echo in the halls of power. Let our determination inspire others to join us. We are the change-makers, the dreamers, and together, we will build a brighter, more inclusive world.

Thank you.
