

Ladies and Gentlemen,

Thank you for gathering here today. As I stand before you, a flood of memories rushes through my mind. It feels like just yesterday when I nervously walked through these doors for the first time, eager to prove myself and excited about the journey ahead.

Throughout the years, this place has been more than just a workplace to me; it has been a second home. We've shared countless moments, from late-night projects to celebratory successes, each one leaving an indelible mark on my heart.

Working alongside such talented and dedicated individuals has been a privilege. You have been my mentors, my friends, and my confidants. Together, we've navigated challenges with resilience and supported one another in ways that went beyond the professional realm.

As I step into retirement, I carry with me the lessons learned, the friendships forged, and the cherished memories we've created. Though I'm looking forward to new adventures, I will always look back on these years with deep appreciation and fondness.

Thank you for being a significant part of my journey. I wish you all continued success and happiness in the years to come. Remember, even though I may not be here every day, my thoughts will always be with you. Thank you once again.
