

To my dearest sister, on this special day,
A blossoming flower in May's gentle sway.
Your laughter's a melody, sweet and bright,
Guiding our hearts through the darkest night.
You paint our world with colors so rare,
In your presence, every moment a prayer.
With dreams like stars, you light up the skies,
In your courage and grace, true beauty lies.
Today we celebrate, with joy in every beat,
The wondrous tale of you we lovingly repeat.
So here's to you, in life's grand parade,
A sister so cherished, may your joy never fade.
