

Certainly! Here's a simple example of a speech for a job transition:

---

Hello everyone,

I wanted to take a moment to share some exciting news and reflect on our time working together. As some of you may have already heard, I will be transitioning to a new role outside of our company.

First and foremost, I want to express my genuine gratitude to each of you. Working alongside such a dedicated and talented team has been one of the highlights of my career. The collaboration and support I've experienced here have been truly inspiring and have shaped me both professionally and personally.

As I prepare for this new chapter, please know that I am committed to ensuring a smooth transition. I will be working closely with [Successor's Name] to hand over my responsibilities and ensure that nothing falls through the cracks. [Successor's Name] brings a wealth of experience and new ideas, and I am confident they will excel in this role.

I encourage everyone to continue supporting each other as you always have. Our strength lies in our collaboration and the way we uplift each other to achieve our goals.

Thank you once again for your support and encouragement. While I'll be moving on to new challenges, I will always cherish the relationships and memories we've built together.

Wishing everyone continued success and fulfillment. Let's stay in touch!

Warm regards,

[Your Name]

---