

Ladies and gentlemen, gathered here today,
In radiant joy, on this special day.
It's a celebration of love, so true,
A journey they've traveled, both old and new.
Here's to our parents, whose bond remains strong,
In a world ever-changing, they've carried along.
Through laughter and tears, in sun and in rain,
The melody of love is their sweet refrain.
From the first tender kiss to today's embrace,
Their love paints colors we can't replace.
With every glance and every heartbeat,
They craft their story, complete and neat.
Hand in hand, as the years swiftly flow,
Their legacy of love continues to grow.
So here's to the couple on this radiant day,
May their love's sweet music forever play.