

Ladies and gentlemen,

Today, I stand before you to celebrate the beautiful gift of childhood friendships. These bonds are often our first taste of trust, loyalty, and joy. They shape us, support us, and stay with us as we grow.

To my dear childhood friends, thank you for your unwavering companionship through the years. You filled my days with laughter and turned ordinary moments into cherished memories.

We learned together, grew together, and kept each other close despite the miles and years between us. These friendships, rooted in innocence and sincerity, remain a cornerstone in my life.

Let us raise a toast to those irreplaceable connections, recalling fond memories and cherishing the love that has stood the test of time.

Thank you.
