

Good evening, everyone.

My name is Alex Johnson, and I'm a senior at Lincoln High School. I'm here to share my experiences about how students have impacted our school's culture positively.

First, I want to talk about our student-led tutoring program. A group of us noticed that some classmates were struggling with math, so we organized after-school tutoring sessions. This initiative not only helped improve grades but also fostered a supportive community where students feel comfortable seeking help.

Secondly, our environmental club has made significant strides in promoting sustainability. We started a recycling campaign and now, recycling bins are present in every classroom. This effort has increased awareness about environmental issues and encouraged everyone to be more responsible.

Lastly, our school has become a more inclusive place thanks to our diversity committee. By organizing cultural festivals and learning sessions, we have celebrated our differences and created a more welcoming environment for everyone.

These examples show that, even as students, we have the power to make a lasting impact on our school culture. Thank you.
