

Ladies and gentlemen, family and friends,

I want to take you on a little journey today--a journey that began a few years ago when I met someone truly incredible.

Picture a sunny afternoon in the heart of our vibrant city. There I was, standing in line at our favorite coffee shop, when fate intervened. As I reached for my cup, my hand brushed against theirs, and I looked up into the most captivating smile I had ever seen.

From that moment, life unfolded like the chapters of a beautiful novel.

We shared countless laughter-filled nights, navigated challenges hand in hand, and discovered that we were better together than we ever were apart.

On a chilly evening beneath a starlit sky, as we sat side by side sharing dreams and aspirations, I realized I didn't want the story to end. I wanted to write more chapters with this wonderful person--chapters filled with love, adventure, and togetherness.

So here we are today, surrounded by the people we love. I have a question to ask, one that has been growing in my heart since that first unforgettable meeting.

[Turn to your partner]

Will you join me in writing the rest of our story together? Will you marry me?

Thank you, everyone, for being a part of this moment. Let's continue the celebration as we embark on this exciting new chapter.