

[Standing on a cliff with the ocean waves crashing below, you take a deep breath, your heart racing with excitement and anticipation.]

"Hey [Girlfriend's Name], here we are--right on the edge of the world, just as thrilling as the journey we've been on together. Every adventure we've embarked on has only made me realize how much I want you by my side for all those yet to come.

We've laughed, we've challenged each other, and faced fears hand in hand. So, what do you say we make this adventure a lifetime one? Will you marry me and embark on the most exciting journey of all--our future together?