

My Love,

Imagine a world where every day starts with your smile, and every night ends with your embrace. We've shared moments so beautiful, and dreams so promising, that the future feels like a canvas waiting for us to paint it with our love.

In this dream-future of ours, I see laughter, adventure, and the kind of joy that only you bring into my life. I see us growing, learning, and building a life full of endless possibilities together.

So here I am, asking you to be my forever companion. Will you marry me and make this dream our reality?
