

In the garden of life where hearts intertwine,
I stand before you, my love, my sunshine.
With each passing moment, together we bloom,
A dance of two souls, dispelling the gloom.
The stars in your eyes guide my every way,
In the embrace of your arms, I long to stay.
With laughter and tears, our story unfolds,
A tapestry of love in colors so bold.
So here I am, a heart open wide,
Asking you, dear, to stand by my side.
Forever and always, let's write this tale,
Through life's gentle whispers or tempests' gale.
Will you, my darling, take my hand,
As we journey together through this wondrous land?
With a promise of love, in skies so blue,
I ask you, sweet love, will you say "I do"?