

Beneath the starlit sky, where whispers of the night kiss the gentle breeze, my heart finds its melody in the rhythm of your presence. Like a timeless sonnet, penned by destiny's hand, each beat echoes a love story written for us alone.

Darling, in your eyes I see a future painted with dreams, a tapestry woven with laughter, compassion, and unyielding trust. Your smile, the sunrise that awakens my soul; your touch, the moonlit path guiding me home.

As the world turns in its eternal dance, may we too join this waltz--a duet of souls entwined in an embrace as infinite as the stars above. With every breath, every pulse, I promise my heart to you, now and forevermore.

Will you, my love, share this journey by my side, filling each chapter with the poetry of our love? Will you marry me?