

[Standing in the middle of a picturesque park, surrounded by laughing friends and whispering nature]

"Alright folks, gather 'round, gather 'round! I need an audience because I've been told my jokes are only decent if people are forced to listen! So, you all might be wondering why I've gathered you here today. No, it's not to finally admit that I've been secretly a world-class opera singer... though clear throat [sings a comedic, out-of-pitch opera note]--nope, definitely not that!

No, today is a big day because I'm about to ask a very special person a very important question. And, of course, I couldn't do it without an audience who could potentially witness a yes... or film a viral internet fail if need be!

To the love of my life, my partner in crime, the one person who still pretends to laugh at my puns even when they're questionably punny--I think it's time we make this person laugh for a lifetime.

You make my heart race, just like the thought of my mom seeing that 'D' I got in math :) I might not be a perfect person, but I'm perfect...ly certain that you're the one I want to spend my life with.

So [Partner's Name], what do you say? Shall we continue this grand adventure together? Will you make me the happiest person and say 'yes' to being stuck with my jokes forever? Will you marry me?"

[Gets down on one knee, opens ring box, while friends cheer]