

Ladies and gentlemen,

If I may have your attention for just a moment, I promise to keep this brief yet meaningful.

Today, I stand before you all as someone who has had the extraordinary privilege of knowing a person so remarkable that words often fail to do justice. This individual has been my confidant, my rock, and my greatest supporter. They have shown me the true essence of loyalty, understanding, and love.

[to best friend]

From the countless moments of shared laughter to the silent support during challenging times, you have been a constant in my life. You are more than just a best friend to me; you are part of my heart and soul. Thus, it brings me immense joy to stand here and ask you, will you do me the honor of marrying me and sharing the adventure of life together? Your presence in my life is invaluable, and I cannot imagine a future without you by my side.

Thank you all for sharing this moment with us.
