

My dearest love, though miles apart we stand,
In dreams, we wander, hand in distant hand.
In whispers of the night, our hearts align,
Two souls, one journey, through the sands of time.
With patience, we've endured the longest miles,
In letters, texts, and countless video smiles.
A love like ours, resilient and true,
No distance can divide what I feel for you.
So here, beneath the stars that bridge our skies,
In their sparkling gaze, I see our love's rise.
Will you, my heart, join me in life's sweet dance,
And close the gap, give us this cherished chance?
Though lands may lie between our tender reach,
Love's gentle whisper carries its own speech.
With faith, we'll bridge this wondrous expanse,
Together forever, in love's endless trance.
