

Ladies and gentlemen,

I stand before you today not just as a partner, but as someone deeply grateful for the journey love has taken me on. This journey has been one of distance, longing, and anticipation. [Partner's Name], every mile between us has only made my heart grow fonder, and every day without you has been another reminder of how deeply I cherish you.

Reflecting upon our story, I realize the strength of the love we've built despite the miles that separate us. The late-night conversations, the shared dreams, and the unwavering support reveal the true essence of our bond.

Today, I ask you to turn those distant dreams into a shared reality.

[Partner's Name], will you marry me and let us walk this journey hand in hand, turning every challenge into a beautiful memory? The chapters of our love story are just beginning, and I can't think of anyone else who I'd rather write them with.

Thank you.
