

Certainly! Below is a sample speech you might use during a disability benefits hearing:

---

Your Honor,

Thank you for the opportunity to present my case today. I am here to request approval for disability benefits due to my medical condition which significantly impacts my ability to work.

I have been diagnosed with [specific medical condition] since [year], and it severely limits my daily activities. Documentation from my doctors, which I have submitted as Exhibit A, outlines my symptoms and the impact they have on my ability to maintain employment. For instance, [mention specific limitations, e.g., chronic pain, fatigue, mobility issues]. In the past, I worked as a [previous job title], but due to my health, I can no longer perform essential tasks such as [list specific job responsibilities you can no longer fulfill]. Attempts to find lighter jobs have also been unsuccessful because [mention related struggles or limitations].

I have followed recommended treatments and rehabilitation programs, but my condition has not improved to the point where I can sustain any form of gainful employment. My medical team agrees that my condition is persistent and severe.

I respectfully ask for your consideration of my application for disability benefits so that I can focus on managing my health while maintaining some level of financial stability.

Thank you for your time and understanding.

---

This approach conveys your situation clearly and respectfully, focusing on how your disability truly affects your work capability.